The 2017 Culture, Health and Wellbeing International Conference will showcase inspirational practice and the latest research in the field. It will discuss the role of arts and creativity in healing, care and wellbeing across the life course and encourage shared learning, facilitating dialogue between researchers, policy makers and practitioners.

Keynotes and performances by national and international policy makers, academics and artists will be combined with a rich and varied programme of presentations, workshops, performances and films. We will be launching the report from the two year Inquiry into Arts, Health and Wellbeing led by the All Party Parliamentary Group on Arts, Health and Wellbeing and considering the future of arts, health and wellbeing in the UK and internationally.

The call for abstracts closes on November 20th 2016. We particularly encourage those who have never submitted an abstract before and will provide guidance on the process.

Conference themes will encompass multiple art forms and include:

- Reducing inequalities
- Promoting resilience, prevention and early intervention

- Improving mental health and wellbeing
